The Thomas J. Jones Family Ho Club of Newark held their fourth annual parade on Tuesday, passing through this town.

The Crisp and Dickerson Batteries paraded in their new uniforms last Wednesday night and made a very pretty appearance.

The dancing class in connection with Miss Northall's school will be held every Friday afternoon at 3.30. The lessons are given by Miss Upham of New York.

A. H. Hamilton of Chicago, now connected with the National Wall Paper Company, has rented the house formerly occupied by Egbert Ward on Linden Avenue.

Captain James Delhagen of the Second Ward Juniors Club entertained the boys of his command with an oyster supper on Wednesday evening at his home on Broad Street.

The Republican uniformed clubs of Bloomfield have received an invitation to parade in Franklin next Tuesday evening, October 25. The invitation has been accepted.

The Fire Committee met at the Truck House on Friday morning, and had George W. Cadmus, the builder, inspect the bell tower. The Committee will report in favor of repairing the structure.

The rank of Knight was conferred on one Esquire in Eureka Lodge, Knights of Pythias, on Tuesday evening. One application for membership was received. The rank of Page will be conferred next Tuesday evening.

During the progress of a cock fight last Saturday night, one of the Bloomfield sports got in the way of one of the contesting birds and received a clip in the leg with the spurs, which is liable to make him sick of the sport hereafter.

George Baldwin of Liberty Street left town on Thursday with F. W. Hewes of Broad Street, to exhibit his charts on protection throughout New York State, under the auspices of the New York State Republican Committee until election day.

W. R. Causbrook, B. H. Mortimer, H. H. Taylor, and F. L. Diefenbacher of this place, composing the "Jolly Five" Quartette, rendered five songs in a splendid manner at the play of the "Wedding March" at Music Hall, Orange, on Thursday night.

Officer Benjamin F. Baldwin of the Republican Battery received his uniform on Tuesday evening. While engaged in conversation in a sporting resort on Glenwood Avenue some one stole his red lantern. No clue to the culprit has been obtained.

Mrs. Christiana Vollmer, widow of the late August Vollmer, died at her home on Franklin Avenue last Monday evening, after a short illness, at the age of sixty-three years. Funeral services were held from her late residence on Thursday afternoon. Interment was made in the Bloomfield Cemetery. Six grown-up children survive her.

Mrs. Barbara Ball, widow of the late Benedict Ball, died at her residence on Osborne Street on Saturday, aged sixty-four years. Mrs. Ball had been sick for the past eight years. Her husband was buried seven weeks ago. The funeral services were held from her late residence on Wednesday, conducted by the Rev. Henry W. Selbert of the German Presbyterian Church. Interment was made in the Bloomfield Cemetery.

Came to Blows.

Assistant Superintendent of Roads William Baldwin got into an altercation with James Brewster of Brookdale on Thursday, in which it is alleged that Mr. Brewster struck Mr. Baldwin, and the latter in turn knocked Mr. Brewster down. Mr. Brewster went before Justice Post got out a warrant for Mr. Baldwin's arrest on a charge of assault. The difficulty arose over the laying of a pipe across Broad Street at Day's corner to carry the surface water into the brook near Mr. Brewster's house. The work was ordered done by the Township Committee.

Fairview Notes.

If an accident were to befall the solar system and the sun be delayed an hour in its course, it would cause great chronological disorder throughout the world. If by reason of negligence the Western Union time-ball failed to drop at the precise moment, a great tangle in time would ensue. But neither of the above supposititious misfortunes can be compared with the confusion and dismay that reigned in Fairview last week over a rumor that Fred. Mohrmann's gold watch had been stolen from his pocket in New York on the day of the Columbus parade. There is a belief in Fairview that the solar system and all minor systems of making time are regulated by Mr. Mohrmann's watch. Captain Cuttle did not have greater faith in his watch "as is a watch" than the people of Fairview have in the time-piece carried by Mr. Mohrmann. Consequently the announcement of its loss caused a great consternation, as if the law of gravity had ceased to operate. Fortunately for the universe in general and Fairview in particular, the rumor proved untrue. Mr. Mohrmann had simply forgotten to take his watch with him, and when he reached home he found it in its usual place of safe keeping.

The dulness in politics has been a theme of general comment this campaign. Many queries have been propounded as to the reason for the dearth of excitement. All questions of national importance come up for discussion at the meetings of the Fairview Improvement Association, and very naturally the famine in political excitement was a topic discussed. A profound philosopher arose and gravely declared that "it was impossible to discern the moon while the sun was shining," which the wise men of Fairview interpreted to mean that as long as meetings of the Fairview Improvement Association continued to absorb public interest, political enthusiasm would be at a discount. It was at once decided to postpone all meetings of the Association until after election and the best meeting will be held at the residence of Fred. Mohrmann on November 14. The people of these United States can now devote their undivided attention to politics.

The Fairview Improvement Association met at the residence of William V. Hughes on Monday night. The bad condition of the canal bridge at Berkeley Avenue and the outrageous manner in which the sewer contractors are destroying the streets were topics discussed. On account of the absence through illness of President C. W. Potter, the chair was filled by George W. Becker.

The attention of the Board Committee is called to a white stone in Fairview. This particular stone is on the side of the roadway in Newark Avenue, near Charles L. Selbert's residence. When Fairview was in a microbe state this stone served to enlighten the traveler that he was in Fairview. Its day of usefulness has ended, and it only serves to frighten horses at night. It should be removed.

Fairview will fight any attempt to reduce the width of Newark Avenue in order to make a common ordinary street of it. Mr. Rayner is counsel for the Improvement Association, and he will be instructed to carry the matter to the highest court, and failing there, an appeal will be made to the "god of battles."

Watessing Notes.

The Epworth League of the Watessing M. E. Church held its regular meeting on Monday night.

Hampson & Elor's hat factory will start again next week. The hatting business is brisk in Watessing.

Active Hose Company, No. 2, will be the guests of Washington Hose Co., No. 3, of Montclair on Monday night.

The Helping-Hand Society of St. Paul's Church will meet at three o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Dawson.

Rev. H. W. Denlow of Seneca Falls, N. Y., will preach in St. Paul's P. E. Church on Sunday, the 29th inst., both morning and evening.

Leading Democrats of the First Ward of East Orange have taken up Charles Bradley as their candidate for Township Committeeman next spring.

Thomas Wilson, the Prospect Street butcher, sailed for England Wednesday on the White Star steamer Myosotis. He will return about December 1.

Political activity is aroused in Watessing. The boys' Harrison and Reid Club received their uniforms on Wednesday night. Drilling and drumming goes on nightly.

Washington Hose Company of Montclair used the parade carriage of Active Hose Company on Friday when they took part in the Harrison Fire Department parade.

Demetrius Vashanoff, son of a Macedonian nobleman, who is studying for the ministry at Drew Seminary, lectured in the Watessing M. E. Church on Thursday night. He wore the native costume of the Greeks.

All the Republicans of the First Ward of East Orange with one or two important exceptions are anxious that Alderman Joseph W. Elor should continue to represent the ward in the Township Committee next year. Business engagements may interfere with his acceptance.

Joseph W. Elor, Treasurer of the First Ward Republican Club of East Orange, has received word from the Wilkinson Engineer Corps of Newark that they will pay a visit to the First Ward Club on the night of November 3d. If nothing interferes to break the engagement, it will be a great night in the First Ward.

A Letter from the Postmaster.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CITIZEN:
SIR: I received a note a few days ago signed "Interested." I do not know the author of the note, therefore I cannot communicate with him in any way. I am glad to see some one interested in the poor of the town. I would like to talk with any one and am willing to receive advice or instruction wherein the town or the poor may be benefited, but I do not care to receive letters from any one who dare not sign their name to the note.

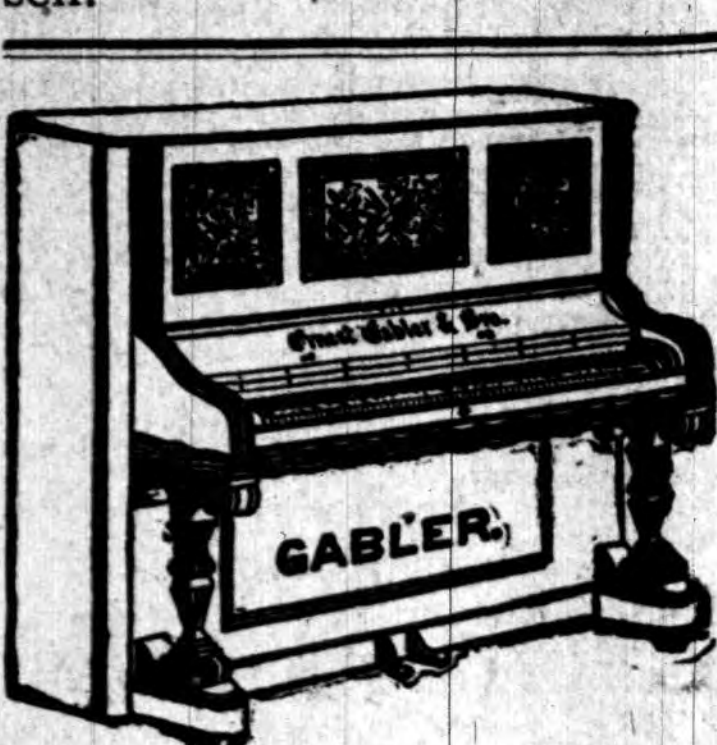

O. L. VOORHEES.

A Good Thing.

A first premium at the Waverly Fair is a good thing to have—and we have two of them and a silver medal besides—but a BETTER THING is the approval and the practical appreciation of the public, and we have that too, and are justly proud of the fact.

The "Standard" Sewing Machine, the Stevens Pinning Machine, and the Impresario Pinned Patterns are a trio of treasures which the people demand, and are not satisfied until they have them. Sold only at the "Domestic Art Rooms," Broad and West Park Streets.—Adv.

Are you satisfied with the education your son is receiving? You know his needs and must decide whether his time is being spent to advantage. He may be capable of advancing in his studies more rapidly than the strict grading in the public school will permit. He may be required to lose a year, because he is backward in one study. In the MONTCLAIR MILITARY ACADEMY classes are small, cadets receive individual attention impossible in large schools, and a cadet is not kept back in one subject because he is deficient in another. Visit the school and inspect the work for yourself.

Are You Musical?

If that is the case, then we want to sell or rent you a PIANO or ORGAN. We have the largest and most select stock in NEW JERSEY and guarantee satisfaction. Our PRICES are the LOWEST, our TERMS the EASIEST, and our manner of doing business the most approved.

A Socialists' Meeting.

Residents of this town who attended the meeting of the Socialists or proletarians, as they are pleased to term themselves, which was held in Dodd's Hall on Thursday night, were surprised to see a goblet of water on the platform table instead of a keg of beer with a red flag fastened in the bung-hole. Sixteen resident proletarians, or Socialists, signed the membership roll of the Socialist-Labor party. They did not roll up their shirt sleeves and pierce their arms in order to procure blood with which to inscribe their names. They simply used an ordinary pen and ink and attached their names to a very ordinary piece of paper. The meeting of the proletarians was of an orderly character, and differed very little from the ordinary plutocratic meeting. Each proletarian sat with his hat on, and if he felt so disposed lighted his pipe or a cigar, and at intervals throughout the discussion refreshed himself with a short nap.

Herr Balkam of New York city addressed the assemblage in English. He laid great stress on the fact that they were not Anarchists, but proletarians, which word he said Horace Greeley defined as designating a man who had nothing between him and starvation but his day's wages. He spoke of the irrepressible conflict between the plutocrats and the proletarians, in which the latter were being driven to the wall and approaching a condition more deplorable than that of slaves. He declared that neither the Republican or Democratic party could be depended upon to legislate in the interest of working men. He alleged that the taxes collected in New York city, instead of being applied to the building of schoolhouses to accommodate the 35,000 children in the city whom the present schoolhouses could not accommodate, were being used in building armories or bastilles in order that the plutocrats could array their minions against the proletarian in the event of his murmuring against cruel oppression.

A stout German from Newark was the second speaker. He spoke with great animation and rung the changes on the words capitalist and arbiter. The attendance was about thirty-five, of whom at least twenty-five were Germans.

A general conversation ensued at the conclusion of the addresses and the sentiment of the speakers met with general approval. One young man, who bids fair to develop into an agitator of the first order, declared that the constitution of these United States had never been obeyed from its inception, as Washington had violated it by owning slaves.
